The War on Constitutional Principles.

The Democracy always in conventions and precinct meetings overflows with love for the Constitution. Of late, it opposes secession for the appearance of the thing, but it is very careful to insist that nothing must be done by way of resisting rebellion, except according to Democratic notions of the Constitution, but never yet has told us how the work was to be effected. The glistering generalities of its resolutions are like icicles in the sunlight, and of no more use or practical benefit. The leaders have over and over again declared that there was "no power to coerce a State," and the followers have cried "amen." Every act of the Administration has been denounced, and if a Democrat is asked frankly to tell how the rebellion is to be crushed, he will be sure to acknowledge before he gets through his explanation of the process, that the Constitution does not allow any kind of war against the rebels. He will insist, as he at heart believes, that the best and only way is to submit to the South, and let Democracy and slavery have "free course, run and be glorified," as in times past.

The simple truth is that all this talk about a Constitutional war is arrant humbug. It is intended, and is only designed to mislead and deceive the people, as an artful dodge, by which the efforts of the Government to save the Nation may be opposed. If it was conducted in any manner whatever, the same complaints would be made. The sympathy of the Democratic party is wholly and warmly on the side of the South, and of course it is not to be expected that there will be any disposition to aid in compelling rebels to submit to the laws and the Constitution. We may rather be sure that every self-styled Constitutional Democrat will do his utmost to strengthen treason and embarrass the Government. This will be done not less by false pretences, than by earnest exertions, but the former are most to be watched and guarded against, because as the party looks courage to avow its sympathy with treason, it is mean enough to raise deceptive issues, and to oppose everything which is likely to give success to patriotism, or to secure triumph for the right over wrong, crime and rebellion.

The Democratic Party.

A few days ago, we heard a man talking about re-organizing the Democratic party. He was one of the old adamantine sort, who believes in Gen. Lane, in slavery and in allowing the people to do as they please, provided they always keep his kind of Democrats in office—if they will not, then he thinks there ought to be war and so he justifies the Southern members of the party in their bloody rebellion to get their rights and to recover their power in the Nation. So he wants the party re-organized to help the Democrats who are fighting for these purposes. He thinks or at least so he says, that there is a majority of the voters in this State, who agree with Jeff Davis and his Democratic party, and all that is necessary is that those who think with him should come up manfully to the support of Democracy, which in his mind means secession and rebellion.

We admire his frankness and hope he will have a good time in putting his scheme in operation. He is right in his theory. Democracy loves slavery, for it lived on it. It never gave a man position who would not pledge himself to support Southern interests, and today, if re-organized, the party will do more at the North to strengthen and reinstate the power of slavery in the Nation, than the whole South wishes to do.

We admire his frankness, however, that our frank Democrat will be disappointed. He is mistaken about the number of rebels in Oregon. There are a good many doubtless, but some of them are cowards and afraid to show their real sentiments: others have been accustomed so long to office that for the sake of getting it again, they will disguise or suspend their Democracy for a while, and come into the Union ranks, where there is a good chance for them, as things go,—and thus the prospect of getting a majority is very small and daily diminishing. If anybody wants a well organized democratic party, the only places where the thing is to be seen are at Richmond, Charleston, or the camps of rebellion. There it exists in full and natural proportions.

From Astoria.

ASTORIA, March 7th 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

The Union folks hold their precinct meeting here on Saturday the 5th, to elect delegates to the Union County Convention. Six delegates were elected. We have not heard from the other precincts. The meeting adopted the resolutions which were published as having been adopted by the primary meetings in Portland, on Thursday, the 3d inst. The call for our precinct meetings contained the gist and test question of those resolutions.—and what I have not seen in any other call by any county in the State, to wit: the endorsement of the President's Proclamations concerning slavery and re-admission of States, amnesty, &c. Slavery and Anti Slavery have been the questions of our Government ever since J. R. Giddings was expelled from, and J. Q. Adams was censured by, a dough face Congress, in 1848 to 1840. Let them remain the questions until settled thoroughly.

CHRISTY'S ROUTE TO IDAHO.—The S. F. Bulletin mentions that considerable shipments of goods have recently been made from that place to Virginia City, Idaho, a new town, which last year was without a building. Now it is said to have over 500 dwellings and stores, and is a place of rapidly growing trade. The goods were sent by steamer to Los Angeles, whence they go by a train of 20 large wagons, each drawn by eight to twelve mules, accompanied by proper escorts, driving 500 head of beef cattle. The distance to be traveled from Los Angeles is computed at 1100 miles, occupying about fifty days, and the cost of transporting the merchandise is computed at 9c per lb. It is stated that goods can be conveyed earlier this season by this route, than from St. Louis or Omaha.

Last summer, goods for this mining district were conveyed up the Missouri to Milk river, (Fort Benton landing,) and thence by land carriage, costing from this latter point 25c to 30c per lb freight. But during the fall, merchandise in Omaha for Virginia City, Idaho, was stopped by early snow and winter storms. The locality of that country is such that the owners expect to get the goods through to their destination in advance of those stopped on the road, and even in advance of goods sent direct from Salt Lake. As regards the stock of merchandise at this latter point, (Salt Lake,) goods were said to be scarce. Even in January last, it is stated there were but 100 bags of Coffee there, little or no Sugar, Bacon scarce and high, and Flour worth $12 per bbl; though during last summer Flour was delivered at the Boise River mines, from Iowa, at $14 per bbl.

The leading articles now going forward from San Francisco by this train are tea, coffee, sugar, liquors, clothing, and other dry goods, but of the latter only a very moderate supply. Upon inquiring of the parties as to the relative value of staple goods compared with rates ruling at St. Louis, the Bulletin writer was informed that tea, costing there in January last $1 35 currency, can be bought in San Francisco, of even a better quality, at 80 cents per pound, in gold; and other merchandise in like proportion. Even alcohol, a western staple, can be purchased relatively cheaper here than at that point. These, and others, are the reasons given us for buying the goods here and transporting them across the continent, rather than to buy them at St. Louis, Salt Lake or Omaha.

OUR WAR DEBT—HOW CAN IT EVER BE PAID.—This question, although often gravely asked, ought, in the mind of any intelligent, loyal American, to be answered only with a smile.

Before the rebellion, our cotton crop was estimated at over 4,000,000 bales of 500 lbs each. A tax on this one article of 5 cents per lb would amount to $100,000,000. Add to this an export duty on 2,500,000 bales, as the average in future of our exports, of 2½ cents per lb, will give over $50,000,000. This is without estimating how much these rates may be increased without distressing our people, when the production of cotton shall be much reduced in cost by the change from slave to free labor.

Take the other productions of the South which Europe must have, and which will stand a heavy tax without being felt by the people, both for export and home consumption, and add thereto the amount of tax which can be placed upon our mining operations, and there is a fund at once provided amply sufficient to provide for the principal of a debt of say $4,000,000,000, and that long before our creditors will be willing to receive the money—leaving the foreign revenue, with a tax on a few manufacturing establishments, to pay the interest and assist in reducing the principal. Suppose we come out of the war with a debt of $4,000,000,000, (the debt is now, probably, less than $2,000,000,000,) deduct from this say, $500,000,000, which the people will gladly lend the Government without any interest for the advantage of having the circulation, then we have $3,500,000,000 on which to pay interest, and the sum will then, without doubt, readily command a premium on a rate of 5 per cent., Which is, per annum, say..... $175,000,000

To pay this yearly interest we shall have our foreign duties, say over,..... $100,000,000

And our manufactures of spirits and other luxuries will yield, say..... 75,000,000-$175,000,000

And all this can be done with our present population, without anybody being in the least degree distressed by taxation. In addition will be the ordinary expenses of the Government, for which the present consumption of tobacco will yield an adequate revenue. Our population will not stop at 30,000,000; but will soon be 400,000,000, which will increase the foreign duties in a greater proportion, while the principal of our debt will be rapidly lessening.

Suppose, instead of $2,000,000,000, as we now owe, the war should involve us in a debt of $8,000,000,000. A tax of 5 per cent. on all sales in the United States per annum, excluding sales of real estate and stocks, according to the estimate of the Boston Board of Trade, would probably pay the whole principal of the debt in 20 years; perhaps in a much less time. This tax no one would feel or know in this country—as calico selling at 10 cents would pay but half a cent a yard, and a cost patter at 25 per yard would pay indirectly but 50 cents. These differences would amount to less than the ordinary fluctuations from week to week occasioned by natural supply and demand, and the people, unless they were told, need never know comparatively that any taxes exist.

Three years ago our government apprehended more difficulty in borrowing $12,000,000 at 12 per cent. per annum than they now do in borrowing $1,200,000,000 at 6 per cent. No wonder, when we did not know ourselves, that Europe did not understand us.

It will soon be understood in Europe that our loans, even at 3 per cent., are the best loans in the world. One important reason is we can pay them when due without inconvenience, and our resources are so ample that no disposition can ever exist to repudiate. Within ten years past we have read the advertisements of the Secretary of the Treasury offering in vain to buy from our European creditors our 6 per cent. loan at 15 per cent. premium. We predict that, within ten years to come, we shall read another advertisement offering the same for a larger premium for our 5 per cent. loans, and this will be the case, be our debt $2,000,000,000 or $4,000,000,000.

DICKENS AND THACKERAY.—A writer in the January number of the Christian Examiner relates the following curious and suggestive incident:

Charles Dickens sat in his chambers in London in the flush of the fame of his "Pickwick Papers." He was preparing another story to be published, as all his great works were, in numbers, with illustrations. One day a man came in and said: "I have come, sir, to ask you to look at some sketches. I want to be the artist for your new book." The young author glanced over them, and then said—kindly, we are sure—"I think you will not do." The man went away; worked faithfully along both with pencil and pen; wrote little books, papers for public journals—whatever came in his way. Years passed; he was still known to those only that are familiar with the second-rate names in the London literary circles. One day he carried a great bundle of manuscript to a publisher, with proposals to print it. It was refused. Finally another ventured on it, and the world was suddenly full of wonder over the story of "Vanity Fair." The most popular author in Britain had from that day a divided kingdom.

The Currency.

GREENBACKS, COMMERCIALLY CONSIDERED.

Are the promissory notes of the Government, printed to the annihilation of bank bills, to circulate as money. Since 1861 the banks have redeemed their notes in the bills of other banks, and not in coin. Paper money is of no value, except as a means of obtaining coin. When convertible into coin, instantly on the spot, the two are of equal value, and both circulate together. Paper ceases to be equal with coin when it ceases to be convertible into coin; and the difference between them increases with the difficulty, delay, or doubt, of effecting the conversion. Being unequal, they cannot both be the standard for measuring values. One becomes the standard, and the other is bought and sold for what it is worth, above or below the par or standard. East of the mountains, paper alone circulates, and is the standard of values, all prices being adjusted to the value of inconvertible paper money, which being less than gold, the latter is at a premium. Here prices are in coin, which is our money, and paper is at a discount. The relative value of the two is nearly the same on both sides of the mountains, being about one and a half of paper to one of gold. There, greenbacks merely interfere the circulating medium. Here, they are a new and disturbing element. Being a legal tender, they are often the best offered debtors, at par; and latterly they are accepted for taxes. If they are really payable on demand, and other public taxes, our treasuries will receive, and can pay out, no other money. Thousands and tens of thousands of officers, which are adjusted to coin, will be reduced one-third. Other public creditors will suffer similar loss. Not circulating as money, those who are compelled to take them must sell them, put what price they can, to those who buy them up, and send them East, and pass them at par in making payments and purchases. A gain to some, and a loss to many.

GREENBACKS, PRACTICALLY CONSIDERED.

Are, on the coast, a temporary evil. But a great nation, in the crisis which attends its power to the utmost, cannot be expected to accommodate its financial measures to the exceptional condition of a few thousand inhabitants in a remote corner. It better becomes us to conform ourselves to whatever plan the government finds occasion to adopt. What then? Shall we take these notes at par for taxes? Shall we pay the salaries of our officers, and our other debts, in paper worth but two-thirds of the amount we have agreed to give? Take them at par we must, when offered for taxes as they surely will be. But the law does not command us to pay our debts with them at their face. It enables the debtor to do this; but public opinion makes it disreputable. Why should we not be as just and honest in our collective as in our individual capacity? To pay them but for what they are worth, as honest people are expected to do in ordinary cases, is the obvious mode of dealing with the subject justly among ourselves and loyally towards the government. It would be better for all to pay their taxes in coin whilst that remains the standard of values. But many will not; and, to make taxation equal, all must pay with paper. The disposition is extending, and will soon be universal. To resist it is to inaugurate a series of litigations, and raise an issue between the officers and the people which will be carried into the elections, and work infinite evil. The most ludicrous feature of the contest is the spectacle we shall make of our judges by tempting them to decide their own case in their own favor so as to enable themselves to fumble the money in the people's pockets and select the kind which they prefer in payment of their salaries. Ultimately the Court of last resort will vindicate the law against all cavils. Better accept and conform to the law, as becomes good citizens, and not assume a position which is certain to involve us in present trouble and final shame. Receiving them for taxes will create a demand for them, and open to them a wide field of circulation, and give them a more uniform market value, and prevent speculators, in a measure, from decrying them and buying them up at a ruinous discount. If paid out at market prices, taxes must be increased. But the same amount of coin that now pays the tax would buy the greenbacks to pay the higher tax. The practical difficulty to determine at all times their true value, cannot be wholly avoided. But the possible losses from that cause are of little importance in comparison with the honor and safety of acting in harmony with the Government and uprightly with our creditors.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.—Wilson Flint, in a letter to the Albany Evening Journal, gives his views about Presidential candidates:

Would it not be a strange spectacle to see the Chicago Convention, nominally called in the Democratic name, nominate Mr. Lincoln on the basis of the Blair programme and the ten per cent. saving pardon proclamation? Stranger things than this have happened in the mutation of American political life. Were the Presidential election to come off to-morrow, Mr. Lincoln would be re-elected by acclamation. There is no mistake but the great undercurrent of public opinion is in his favor. I don't base an opinion of this so much by the declarations of the Union Leagues and other political organizations, as from the private expressions of the common people of all parts of the country. President Lincoln has the heart and confidence of the working classes, but the working classes have but little to do in making up conventions, and Mr. Lincoln may not, after all, get the nomination of the Union Convention. Indeed, the movements in his favor at this early day are calculated to injure rather than increase his chances for the nomination, as they give the clue to his competitors to counteract and checkmate him. I can't discover that Mr. Lincoln is doing anything but his official duty, to secure his re-nomination.

Should it become manifest that Mr. Lincoln is intending to gather around him in the future, men of conservative opinions, he will be turned over to the tender mercies of the Opposition, as the Union Convention is certain to be quite as radical as the Chicago one is to be conservative. Next to Mr. Lincoln, Secretary Chase stands head and shoulders above all other aspirants for the Presidential chair, and were it not the terrific war which the shinplaster banks of the country are waging against his National banking system, I am not sure but he could beat the friends of Uncle Abe in a square stand up fight for the control of the National Convention. While Mr. Lincoln intends to accomplish the total destruction of slavery, there is still a feeling of doubt as to the particular modes or time in which he intends to have it done. With Secretary Chase the case is regarded as neither one of uncertainty in time nor mode. Mr. Chase is the avowed advocate of immediate emancipation, with occupation of the rebel territory, and its permanent settlement and ownership by loyal white and black citizen soldiers. Great as are the admitted administrative abilities of both Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Chase, it may happen that the country will demand a man combining both the acquirements of the statesman and soldier. In this event General Ben. F. Butler is most likely to be the coming man. It has passed into a proverb here, that if there is an enigma to solve send Butler to solve it.

A "PECULIAR INSTITUTION" IN IOWA.—Among the curious phases of Iowa society, is the "Amanna Society," situated in Iowa county, 20 miles west of Iowa City. From the Muscatine Journal we glean the following facts relative to this community. It says:

It numbers 800 members, and is divided into seven villages. It is governed by trustees elected by all the members of the society. The society owns 20,000 acres of land in one bolt. They have a large stock of horses, sheep and cattle—700 head of cattle, 12,000 head of sheep, and a large number of horses; also, 2,200 acres of land under cultivation. They are engaged to some extent in manufacturing, and have a good flouring and saw-mill and a large woolen factory in successful operation. They card, spin, weave and full all kinds of woolen goods, running twelve looms—nine narrow and three for weaving broadcloth. Their machinery is of the most perfect kind. They will work up this season from nine to six thousand bales of wool. The members of the society are all of a religious order. Everything moves on in perfect harmony. When necessary the women aid in outdoor work. We saw twenty in one carrot patch, all at work. In the same field eight teams were plowing. The society is destined to become wealthy.

Dates to March 5th.

More of Sherman's Movements.

THE ATTACK ON MOBILE.

REBEL NEWS.

More Vessels Destroyed by the Alabama.

Acapulco Blockaded.

NEW YORK, March 5.—A Washington special says: Nothing official has been received in Washington direct from Sherman's expedition. Little reliance is placed in accounts of its progress and operations coming through Vicksburg. Quite a little is accorded to rebel accounts because it is probable that the rebel authorities have obtained no insight into his movements. It is certain that he has taken possession of Meridian, which is judged to have been the prime object of this movement. This enables him to interrupt the rebel railroad communications with Mobile and all Mississippi and Alabama.

BOSTON, March 5.—The large Dying Establishment of Wood & Potter was burned to-day. Loss $270,000; insured $10,000.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The House Committee on Elections has decided that Mr. Long of Missouri is not entitled to the seat he now occupies.

NEW YORK, March 6th.—A Washington special says: It is not believed that Admiral Farragut intended to accomplish anything more just now at Mobile than to make demonstrations to draw the rebel attention from other operations.

It is rumored that Gen. Sickles' testimony about the battle of Gettysburg will make it necessary for Meade to resign command of the Army of the Potomac. In that case, Hooker or Smith will succeed. Grant has recommended Smith.

CHATTANOOGA March 4.—The following are rebel telegrams, dated Dalton, Ga., Feb. 27th:

The enemy's skirmishers were two miles this side of Tunnel Hill last night. It is not believed they will make a general attack on our front.

The enemy's force have fallen back from Lafayette. There is a brigade of cavalry at Summerville. From present appearances the enemy will await reinforcements to make a flank movement by way of Lafayette. Gen. Wheeler yesterday captured a sergeant and ten privates. The enemy continues to fall back this morning. Gen. Wheeler's cavalry has advanced beyond Tunnel Hill with a view of cutting off the enemy's trains. Our line of battle has advanced, Gen. Johnston in front. All prospects of a general engagement have failed unless the Federals are overtaken.

CAVE CITY, Ky., March 5.—The noted guerrilla, Col. Richardson, en route northward, while attempting to escape, was shot dead.

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Eastern line is still down.

The ship Boanerges, from China, brings 150 piculs of coffee and 1,000 packages of tea.

A Hong Kong letter says that on the 23d December the Alabama sailed at Singapore and left on the 24th, proceeding to the westward. When scarcely outside Singapore she burned the British ship Martaban, formerly the American Star of Boston.

The Singapore Times, of January 23, remarks of this occurrence: "Capt. Semmes, we are inclined to think, will find out that he has committed a very serious mistake which will shortly put an end to the Alabama's operations."

Information had been received at Singapore that the Alabama had burned in the Straits of Malacca, December 25th, the American ship Sonora, owned in Newburyport, and was 707 tons register. On the same day she burned the American ship Highlander, 1,040 tons.

The Wyoming left Singapore for Manilla to repair her boiler, a few days before the Alabama went there. The latest advices say that the Wyoming took on 150 tons of coal at Labuan.

There was a perfect stagnation of business in American vessels.

The American brig Wandering Wave, Lionel master, left Hong Kong for Hong Chow on the 23d of November and on the 17th of December anchored at a place called Sche Schan, where she was attacked by pirates and all her crew murdered except the captain and second mate. The vessel was plundered and fired. The captain and second mate concealed themselves and subsequently reached the shore.

A Liverpool packet, Crosby master, owned in Boston, 992 tons register, sailed from Hong Kong for Shanghai on the 12th of September, and has not been heard of since. On the 24th there was a severe typhoon at the north of Formosa and it is feared she foundered at the time.

A passenger by the Boanerges from Hong Kong states that the Alabama had gone up the Bay of Bengal, that she was badly out of repair and did not contemplate visiting this coast.

Some of the British merchants at Hong Kong, who had feted and feasted Semmes' agent, were highly indignant when they learned that their own property had been destroyed, and were willing to contribute money to fit out a vessel to capture her.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The flour and grain market continues excited. Extra No. 1 flour advanced to-day to $8 with a prominent feature among holders to await a further advance.

A telegram from Monterey announces the arrival there this morning of the opposition steamer America, which was obliged to put in at that port for coal, being unable to obtain a supply at Acapulco in consequence of the blockade of that port.

CORVALLIS, March 8th, 1864, 6 P. M.

Capt. Hillyer to-day instituted suit against Indian Agent Simpson, in District Court, for damages to the amount of fifteen thousand dollars, sustained by being arrested while loading oysters in Yaquina Bay on the 24th Feb.

"DR. THACKERAY."—A Paris correspondent of one of the London papers, speaking of Thackeray's early struggles against poverty in Paris, says:

Latterly, fortune and fame enabled the author of Vanity Fair to visit imperial Paris in imperial style, and W. M. Thackeray put up, generally at the Hotel Bristol, in the Place Vendome. Never was increase of fortune more gracefully worn or more generously employed. The struggling artist and small man of letters, whom he was sure to find at home or abroad, was pretty safe to be assisted if he learned their wants. I know of many a kind act. One morning, on entering Thackeray's bedroom in Paris, I found him placing some Napoleons in a pill-box, on the lid of which was written, "One to be taken occasionally." "What are you doing?" said I. "Well," he replied, "there is an old person here who says she is very ill and in distress, and I strongly suspect that this is the sort of medicine she wants. Dr. Thackeray intends to leave it with her himself. Let us walk out together."

EFFECT OF LIGHT.—A tadpole confined in darkness would never become a frog; and an infant being deprived of heaven's free light, would only grow into a shapeless idiot, instead of a beautiful and reasonable being. Hence, in the deep, dark gorges of the Swiss Valois, where the direct sunshine never reaches, the hideous prevalence of idiocy startles the traveler. It is a strange melancholy idiocy. Many citizens are incapable of any articulate speech; some are deaf, some are blind, some labor under all these privations, and all are missshapen in almost every part of the body. I believe there is in all places a marked difference in the healthiness of houses according to their aspect with regard to the sun, and those are decidedly the healthiest, other things being equal, in which all the rooms are, during some part of the day, fully exposed to the direct light. Epidemics attack inhabitants on the shady side of the street, and totally exempt those on the other side, and even in epidemics, such as ague, the morbid influence is often thus partial in its labors.—Moore.

THE TELEGRAPH CELEBRATION.—The celebration of the final completion of the Telegraph, came off in an appropriate manner, last evening. The Military and Fire Department were out, in torch-light procession, and the streets were lined with citizens. After marching down Front street, and back, the procession halted in front of the Telegraph Office (the Pioneer Hotel,) where a speaker's stand had been tastily arranged, decorated with the Stars and Stripes, etc., upon the verandah. Here Rev. T. H. Pearne was first introduced, when he addressed the multitude in his happiest style, in a fitting manner. He was vociferously applauded. The Band played a tune, and Judge Williams was announced. He made a fine speech, and was attentively listened to. At the close of Judge Williams' remarks the band played another tune, and the following dispatches were read in a pleasant style by Colonel McCraken:

To Mayor of the City of Portland, Maine —Portland of the Pacific to Portland of the Atlantic,—the younger to the elder sister—one in name. May they ever be united in the preservation of our common country and the liberties DAVID LOGAN, Mayor

JOSEPH BUCHTEL,
Chief Engineer, Portland Fire Dept

PORTLAND, March 5th, 1864.

To the Mayor of the City of San Francisco —On this auspicious occasion to convey to you the assurance of the respect and kindness entertained by the citizens of the commercial emporium of Oregon for yourself and the citizens of the commercial emporium of the Pacific.

DAVID LOGAN, Mayor

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7, 1864.

Hon Logan —San Francisco returns the compliments of Portland, her sister city of the Pacific Her relations in being more closely connected by

H. P. COON.

These without replies were explained. The dispatches were sent working through to the East. The Chief Engineer of the San Francisco Fire Department was absent from the city. On his return of the reading of the dispatches the procession again formed, and marched to Front street to Taylor, and back, when the Chief Engineer disbanded the Fire Department, and each Company marched to their House Company B, of the Willamette by the Band, escorted Company C to their Armory, and then marched to their quarters and broke ranks. The firemen afterwards at the House of No 3, where refreshments were served, and a good time was had till late hour.

ILLUMINATION —The chief incident of interest last night was the continued display of illuminations From one block to another for nearly the entire length of Front street, for many blocks on First, and intervening streets buildings were handsomely decorated and presented a magnificent appearance. Our citizens exhibited much liberality on the occasion, and are truly entitled to a high degree of credit.

POLICE COURT —The Recorder had the usual number of "cases" in his Court yesterday. John Lacy was sent up for three days, and a fine of $5 and costs, for being drunk and disorderly John Reynold paid a fine of $10 and costs for riotous conduct, for selling liquor without a license, and $20 and costs for riotous conduct, for keeping open the Pearl Saloon, and at which another warrant was out for him for a violation of the last act

PIONEER SQUARE —After a cessation of work for four or five days, the convicts were put to work again yesterday, and resumed their improvements with wheel-barrows and shovels. The contract for the building of a wall around the square, is being complied with, and in a few weeks the work will all be done.

ARRIVAL —Charles Anderson, private Co A, Oregon Cavalry, by application at this office may find in whose wood shed he chopped last, and where he left his axe and cap, with some articles in the pockets of the former—principally a greenback and pipe, with his pass, dated 7th of March.

BETRAYING HIMSELF —A fellow slightually under the influence of "tangle foot" was seen along Taylor street yesterday, in the act of "running" himself. His appearance, did not betoken "ease or safety," for a lack of the latter, if the fellow should have happened around.

TAKEN A SPIN AROUND THE BLOCK —About 9 o'clock last night No 3's bell sounded an alarm and the members of other companies, who were in the room at the time, took the hint, turned out, and had a lively run around a square or two, when they again "housed" her, and thus ended the celebration

THE DIRECTORY,—The last "form" of the Portland City Directory, for 1864, was printed on Friday, in the Oregon Farmer Job Printing Office The work now passes into the hands of the Book Binder, and will soon appear before the public.

$2,000 —The amounts of treasure arriving from the upper country, by the Hunt are very large for the past three days. The sum of $50 constituted the sum brought down last night We do not expect anything big, much before the spring work, in the mountains

The boat John H. Couch arrived at 8 o'clock last evening No vessels were in when she left down Mother Jonathan went to sea on Monday about 9 o'clock A M The weather has been very fine for three or four days past, at Astoria and Vicinity —Yesterday may be set down as the finest day of the month as the finest day of the year, so far.

The bark Alert will leave for Oak Point to-day to load with lumber for San Francisco.

THE NEED OF TUGS —Our commercial interests are increasing so rapidly that the need of tugs with capacity sufficient to enable them to go beyond the Columbia Bar for vessels is being almost daily felt These tugs must all come along in time and why not now as well as in future, and by our own people It is very often the case that a sailing vessel has to lay off before she can get a tug, and waiting for a favorable chance, and while bringing her into the river, and it is as often the other way with them going to sea Much of our exports of apples have spoiled in the holds of such vessels as would pay for at least one such tug, during the past two years when our commerce was nothing to what it is now becoming We are reliably informed that shipowners in San Francisco are seriously contemplating such an enterprise in our waters, and if they do, it may add another block to the stumbling over, and weaken the chances of our holding the "open port" of Oregon in the palm of our hand San Francisco capital will never build up Portland, and if we do not know it we shall soon find it out.

WILLAMETTE THEATRE —At this place of amusement the drama of the 'Green Bushes' was performed, last evening but owing to the celebration the audience was not as large as the play deserved To night the Octoroon will be produced

FREIGHT AND PASSENGERS —The freight to the Cascades yesterday on the Hunt amounted to 70 tons passengers 80 From Oregon City by the Senator, 20 passengers, and 70 tons of freight are reported

COMING UP!—For the past four days the Willamette has been gradually rising, and up to last night had attained nearly the height of last January. Immense quantities of drift wood are constantly floating past the city

THERE were several workmen engaged in putting a new covering of plank on the cistern, at the junction of Washington and Second streets. This is a good improvement

VISITS —Our press room was thronged last evening, with ladies and gentlemen, to witness the operation of working the OREGONIAN, by steam.

STEAMER RIVAL —The steamer Rival is being fitted up nicely, but will not resume trips until the first of July

A NAPOLEON FOR MEXICO —The Paris Patrie of December 25th says 'Prince Napoleon Bonaparte son of the Prince Canino, has just entered the Foreign Legion with the rank of Captain This regiment, now in Algeria, is destined for Mexico The Prince here named, is of Bonaparte blood from both of his parents His father was the son of Lucien Bonaparte, and his mother was the daughter of Joseph Bonaparte who formerly lived at Bordentown He was born in 1839, and is married to a daughter of the Roman Prince Ruspoli.

MANUFACTURE OF WINE.—Ohio and California are the great wine producing States, so far In 1860, the former produced 562,640 gallons, and the latter 494 515 At the present time California must be far in advance, as her greatest progress in this line has been within the past three years Ohio has been long engaged in the business and has progressed but slowly.

FOR THE SANDWICH ISLANDS —We understand that Hedston, Hastings & Co, Clothiers, of Montgomery street, San Francisco, have sold a large lot of fine clothing for the American residents in Honolulu Those who appreciate good clothes are sure to find out where such can be purchased, and you could not drag them into a slop shop with a cart rope.

A Famine Scene.

All through November the south wind poured steadily up through the Kyle, and filled Ronaldsay with mist and gloom. But in the first week in December, when the days were getting toward their shortest, the north wind came down, drove the mist away, and invested the island with a cold, crude, merciless beauty. Under an inexorable brazen sky, every crag came out clear and sharp as crystal, every cataract was turned into a glacier, every little sporting burn on the hillside into a beautiful ice-palace. The locks were frozen three feet thick; but the curling stones lay neglected under the bedplace, and the faded ribands upon the handles only served to remind the young men of the merry risks last year, before the potatoes rotted and left them all starving. The old folks died first. That was as it should be. One could not complain of that; one might envy them, but one could not complain. They had had sixty years of this sort of thing, and it was hard if they were not to enter into their rest before the misery grew to its full head. The loss of the dear old faces at the fireside was very sad, and the hearts of those who were left behind starved, ached, sorely; but God had taken them from their misery, which grew more terrible as the winter went in, and He knew best. Then the children began to die, and this was very bitter—very, very hard to bear. The bonny barelegged little things, who had done no wrong; who paddled in the surf, that made wreaths of those infernal potato flowers, and called them the lilies of heaven. This would not do to think of. To be locked up here in an island in the Atlantic, without one chance of making one's voice heard till it was too late, and to see one's own bonnie darlings dying before one's face! Hush! It was well for the MacTavis that these men were Scotchmen, not Irishmen! It was well for the peace of the kingdom that these things happened in Ronaldsay and Lewis, and not in Manchester and Birmingham. 'Twas a weary Holloween for the poor souls. The men who dug the graves noticed that day by day the frost got deeper into the earth. The fishing lines froze like wires, the blocks refused to run, the sails were still as boards, and the women who wearily, with blue fingers, knocked the limpets off the rocks, to save themselves from starvation, began to notice that even the salt water in the little pools among the rocks was beginning to freeze. And they came home and told the men, and the men lost heart, and went no more a-fishing. How could they? Did you ever sit hour after hour fishing, with fourteen degrees of frost, and in a state of starvation? The men stayed at home and lay in the bed-places. And then they began to die. Yes! The oldest of the able-bodied men began to lie down, and to fall asleep in a strange, quiet way. Perfectly happy, perfectly calm. They would lie for a day or two, and at last give over speaking. In the morning they would be found quietly dead, without the sign of a spasm on their faces. This is no novelist's fancy: the author has seen what he is describing.—Henry Kingsley in "Austin Elliott."

THE EXECUTION OF A REBEL SPY.—PULASKI, Tenn., Dec. 1, 1863.—A few days ago, Gen. Dodge's scouts, a noble band of veterans, succeeded in capturing a spy and a rebel mail carrier, Mr. Samuel Davis, within six miles of Pulaski, and of course he was brought in as a trophy, and turned over to military authority. Upon his person was found a pass, signed by General Braxton Bragg, stating that the bearer was a member of Capt. Coleman's scouts, and not to be interrupted. Other documents, giving valuable information relative to the number, strength and position of the Federal army, in and around the post, was also discovered with him.

A military commission was organized immediately. Col. Madison Miller, of the 17th Missouri, was President. Mr. Davis was brought before it. To the charge of being a spy, he plead "Not guilty." To the charge of being a carrier of mails to persons in arms against the Government, he acknowledged that he was "Guilty."

The Commission, after mature deliberation, pronounced him guilty of both charges, and, in accordance with the laws of war, sentenced him to be hung. General Dodge approved the sentence, and designated Friday, Nov. 27, as the fatal day.

The gallows were being erected on a pretty eminence, north-east of Pulaski, and overlooking the town, under orders from Gen. Sweeney, who was charged to make all the preliminary arrangements, in detail. Some of the citizens went to him and protested against the execution being allowed to take place so near the town; they had no wish to witness it. "Let him be hung out—far out, from town, General." "No," sternly replied the General; "I want him hung where you all can see him. There are more of you guilty of his crime—I know it—and if I ever get my hands upon you, d——n you, I'll hang you upon the same gallows." His words the citizens believe, without waiting for one to rise from the dead.

Friday, hangman's day—unlucky day—dawned under a cloud, for the whole heavens were black with them. All nature seemed to be in mourning, and many warm hearts, loyal and true, but more that were not melted into sympathy. Four companies of the 111th Illinois and two companies of the 7th Iowa were drawn up, forming a hollow square, with fixed bayonets, with the gallows in the center of it. Hundreds and thousands were the spectators; the soldiery paraded about the guard—the citizens, gazing, with scowls from their dwellings.

The prisoner, seated upon his coffin, under guard, in a wagon, arrived at ten o'clock, and from that moment, all eyes were upon him. He was a young man, about the medium height, rather slightly made, active, impulsive, and intelligent. While sitting upon his coffin, in full view of the scaffold, with death even there before his eyes, he was proffered a full and free pardon if he would only give information of his Captain's whereabouts, for that gentleman's capture is a military necessity. Davis received the offer with indignation, and replied scornfully, addressing the officer who made it:

"Would you betray a friend? I had rather die a thousand deaths."

Only a moment before he ascended the scaffold, be remarked to Captain Armstrong, the prince of clever fellows, as also the best of Provost Marshals, who stood near him as his executioner, laughing as he spoke:

"Well, Captain, you'll have to fight these battles alone, hereafter, for I'll soon be out of your way."

With a quick, firm, proud step, he ascended the stairway to the platform, and there he actually stooped as if to place his head within the noose, supposing he was to be off his legs in a twinkling. One thing was yet lacking. The Provost Marshal took off the prisoner's hat, for his hands were tied behind him, and then Chaplain Young, of the 81st Ohio, addressed the Throne of Mercy in behalf of his soul. And that prayer—it was long and fervent. He prayed that if a reprieve was not to be given on earth, that in higher, better, lasting one might be given in Heaven, where wars come not. Then he implored God's blessing upon our whole country—that sweet peace might soon return again—that the time when war should no longer be waged might come even speedily, and every breathing heart in that vast multitude said "Amen!"

Capt. Armstrong then drew a white cap over the soldier's head, adjusted the noose about his neck, sprang the trap, and at half-past ten o'clock the youthful, gifted, fearless, but wicked enemy, was suspended between heaven and earth.

There were men in that crowd who had braved death at Dopelson, Shiloh, and Corinth—men who never knew a fear—men who hate the life of any rebel, but when the young scout, as brave as he was strong, in his death struggles writhed before them, they involuntarily turned their backs, nor did they care to look again.

Davis lived about three minutes, hung full eighteen minutes, when his body was taken down, placed within the coffin, and buried in the cemetery. That night evergreens were planted, and now sigh in the wild wintry winds over his grave, while flowers, culled by fair hands, were strewn upon it.

And there upon the eminence, overlooking the town of Pulaski, like some white spectre with its long, gaunt arms, as a speaking monument, stands the gibbet.

A GREEN JURYMAN.—The district court in one of our northern counties was in session, last summer, and after the first day's business was over, lawyers and others were sitting out before the hotel, when a long, lank, unsophisticated countryman came up and unceremoniously made himself one of 'em, and remarked:

"Gentlemen, I wish you'd go on with this court, for I want to go home—I left Betsey looking out."

"Ah!" said one of the lawyers. "Pray what detains you at court?"

"Why, sir," said the countryman, "I am dotched here as a jury, and they say if I go home they'll have to find me; and they mighth't do that as I live a good piece off."

"What jury are you on?" asked one of the lawyers.

"What jury?"

"Yes, what jury? Is it the grand or travers jury?"

"Grand or travers jury? Dod fetched if I know."

"Well," said the lawyer, "did the judge charge you?"

"Well, squire," said he, "the little fellow that sits up in the pulpit and kinder bosses over the crowd, gin us a talk, but I don't know whether he charged anything or not."

There was an explosion, and two or three of the legal gentlemen tumbled off their chairs.

Once upon a time a circus rider, lying at the point of death, was asked by his employer if he would like to see a minister. The dying man said he would, and accordingly a reverend gentleman was summoned to his bedside. After a few common-place remarks, the minister propounded in sepulchral tones the following question: "Do you know who died to save sinners?" The nearly lifeless circus rider, with a tremendous effort, raised himself partially in bed, and after fiercely eyeing his holy visitor for an instant, exclaimed: "This is a devilish pretty time to ask conundrums!" He then fell back and expired. The minister left in disgust.

WRITE THIS ON YOUR TABLETS.—The following sentiment, we believe, by Henry Ward Beecher, deserves a place on all the scrap books of all the people:

"Glorify a lie, legalize a lie, arm and equip a lie, consecrate a lie with solemn forms and awful penalties, and after all it is nothing but a lie. It rots a land and corrupts a people like any other lie, and by and by the whole light of God's truth shines clear through it, and shows it to be a lie."

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal use of Hoofland's German Bitters, quackery vegetable, of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous advertisers has opened upon suffering humanity a perfect storm of bitters in the shape of poor Whiskey, variously compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Restorers and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic stimulants in plethoric bottles and in the market under the high sounding appellation of Bitters, which are destroying the health and happiness of thousands. Hoofland's German Bitters, Hoofland's German Tonic or Gems of Good Brandy and Roots, are entirely vegetable preparations, and contain no Whiskey, Rum or Brandy, but are the purest and best medicines ever offered to the afflicted, as they have all the recommendations of being highly concentrated vegetable extracts, and at the same time perfectly harmless in their effects upon the system. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic may be taken by the most delicate female or infant with perfect safety and great benefit. Those three preparations are

Are not a new and untried article. They have stood the test of fifteen years' trial by the people, and their reputation and sale are not equalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of certificates of their value, from eminent

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, PHYSICIANS AND CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge to their beneficial effects and medicinal virtues.

Do you want sound, healthy blood?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to get rid of nervous weakness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk cheerful step?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S German Bitters.

From Rev. J. Manton

Although I am a stranger to you, I feel it my duty to inform you of the great benefit I have received from the use of your Bitters. I was afflicted with Dyspepsia for many years, and had become so debilitated that I was unable to perform my ministerial duties. I was induced, by reading your advertisement, to procure a bottle of your Bitters, and before I had used half of it I found myself much better. I have used in all three bottles, and am now enjoying better health than I have for years. I can recommend your Bitters to all suffering from debility, as I believe they will do all that is represented.

PHILADELPHIA, August 8, 1863.

Messrs. Jones & Evans: We, the undersigned, have used Hoofland's German Bitters in our families, and can recommend them to the afflicted as a valuable medicine. In case of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, or Debility, we have never known them to fail to effect a cure. We have tried many other remedies before using the Bitters, but none have done us so much good as Hoofland's German Bitters.

PARTICULAR NOTICE

There are many preparations sold as Bitters, put up in quart bottles, and called cheap, which are chiefly whiskey, costing about twenty-five cents a gallon.

This class of preparations are destructive in the extreme, because, as long as they can be sold for a dollar a bottle, the dealer will recommend them in preference to Hoofland's German Bitters, which, on account of the great cost of the ingredients, cannot be sold for less than one dollar per bottle.

For those who desire a pure article, we recommend Hoofland's German Bitters, or Tonic, or Gems of Good Brandy and Roots, as containing all the curative properties of any bitters in the world, and as being entirely free from all bad whiskey, rum or brandy.
